WORDS OF WISDOM - BY VEN. SHANGPA RINPOCHE

MAY 2011

To help others, one doesn't need any form of acknowledgement or reward. All of us are somehow connected with similar karmic forces. That is why we are all born as human beings and we get to know each other either as a friend or an enemy. Due to cause and effect, somehow my happiness and sadness can be dependent on you and vice versa. So we are just being together playing our roles but that role makes us close and in proximity. Therefore whoever comes into contact with me, I feel we have karmic connections and to a certain extent, we are dependent upon each other and so I must do my best to assist them.
